He says thanks

With many tourists using U. S. 301 screaming out loud when they are stopped for speeding along the highway in counties which have what are commonly called "speed traps," it comes as a refreshing breeze to have a traveler take time out to say something nice about Statesboro.

Mayor Bowen received a letter this week from a Mr. Richard N. Dieranian of Onondaga, New York. His letter in full is as follows:

"Dear Mayor Bowen,
"It would indeed be ungrateful of me not to write you, and express the gratitude I feel for the most courteous hospitality that I received from your city. You are indeed to be complimented on a police force that bends over backwards to be helpful.

"On Sunday, December 28, while enroute to Miami, an axle on my car broke down several miles out of town. Since it was Sunday, and hard to find access to a garage, I was forced to go to your police station. Two of your officers came out to where my car had broken down, and brought my family back into town, to a motel, and assisted me in getting my car into town. One of the officers was named Spence, the other I am sorry that I do not know, but I certainly would like my appreciation expressed to both.

"Nowhere in my travels have we ever been treated so royally, and it is hard to find the proper words to express my thanks."

(Editor's Note: The two officers were Grady Spence and Milton Larley.)

This sort of courtesy on the part of our police officers means a great deal to our community and we commend them for it.

Check your checks

You as a businessman would not take a wooden nickle in exchange for goods sold, now would you?

Well, there are some who are accepting what could just as easily be called "wooden checks" and giving out good hard cash for them. In Savannah and Columbus, that is.

Word came out of Savannah on Monday that a ring of check forgers seems to be operating in Savannah and Columbus. And it can be assumed that they could be operating in between which would include Statesboro and Bulloch County. One of the persons for whom a bad check was paid gave his home town as Metter.

The checks being given in Savannah are purportedly payroll checks of the American Cyanamid Company and are drawn on the Liberty National Bank and Trust Company, one of the depositories of the Cyanamid company. The checks are bearing the serial numbers in the 4800 range, and are in the $80 to $90 range.

Supermarkets seem to be the places being hit by these forgers, including an A & P store, the Quick Check Company and a Colonial store.

Businessmen are urged to instruct their clerks to be extremely cautious in cashing checks for strangers. Be sure that the person presenting a check to be cashed is one known to the personnel who has the authority to cash them.

Don't be a sucker

That's the warning being issued this week by District Public Health Engineer Jack D. Whelchel.

Last week a citizen of Bulloch County was charged $100 for cleaning out a home septic tank. The normal charge for this service, according to the health engineer is between $20 and $25. So this citizen was "took" for $75 to $80.

Mr. Whelchel suggests that before you contract for the cleaning of your home septic tank, get the price first, and if it is over $25 contact the local health department before having the work done.

You'll save money this way, and you'll get a better job done. Who wants to be a sucker?

Needed protection

If our present Legislature will recognize its responsibility as the leaders of our state, then in the future housewives in Statesboro and Bulloch County and Georgia, will begin looking for the stamp "GD" on all the meats she buys at her favorite meat counter. This stamp would mean that the Georgia Department of Agriculture has inspected the meat and found it good.

Commissioner Phil Campbell has promised strict inspection of meats if the Legislature passes laws to establish rigid inspection of small Georgia meat-packing companies not engaged in interstate business. These companies themselves are seeking such inspection and welcome it. It would put them in a favorable competitive position with the huge packers who boast of the United States Department of Agriculture's "USDA" stamp.

Housewives need this protection. We shudder to think of the kind of meat they could be and may be getting in places which are not interested in the quality of meats they sell, but only in the money it brings in.

We hope that the Legislature will set up this protection.

THE TENSION THAT LINGERS

IT IS SUNDAY night after church. What a glorious day it has been! Cold and clear was the actual weather condition, whatever the forecast. The people came out for church school, morning worship, youth fellowship and evening worship. And, now, I must have a kindred feeling with the exhausted football player at the end of the game or a musician after completing a concert.

One preacher friend of mine told me it was his practice to return to his study about 10 o'clock on Sunday evening to work on the next Sunday's sermon until the wee hours of Monday morning. A commendable practice, but not for me!

SUNDAY EVENING after church is a time for relaxing and unwinding after a day filled with many tensions. What will be the church attendance? Will all teachers or substitute teachers be on hand for their classes? Will I lead the morning prayer in a meaningful manner? What about that troublesome word "stiffly" in the Affirmation of Faith? Will the anthem by the choir set the mood for the sermon? Dare I hope to remember the ideas I want to present, and say them with such wisdom and persuasion that someone will commit them to Jesus Christ?

And, that's not all Sunday afternoon finds this preacher in

Herman Talmadge Reports From Washington

GEORGIANS IN CONGRESS have called on the Post Office Department to pay deserved tribute to the memory of the late Senator Thomas E. Watson as the father of Rural Free Delivery.

All 12 members of the Georgia Delegation during the Second Session of the 85th Congress signed a letter drafted by Congressman Paul Brown of Elberton requesting the issuance of a special commemorative stamp in honor of Senator Watson and his contributions to the development of rural mail service in this country.

Congressman Brown and his friend, Congressman Tom Murray of Tennessee, who is chairman of the House Committee on Post Office and Civil Service, personally delivered the petition to Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield. Mr. Summerfield has said he has advised the Georgia Delegation that the matter has been taken under advisement by the Department's Citizens Stamp Advisory Committee.

ALTHOUGH THE FIRST official suggestion that the Federal Government inaugurate free rural mail service came from postmaster General Wanamaker in 1891, the Library of Congress reports that it was Senator Watson who first introduced the idea of rural free delivery in the House of Representatives, sponsored the first successful bill appropriating money for that purpose in 1893. The Library points out that "Senator Watson worked ceaselessly for Rural Free Delivery."

It is interesting to note that Senator Watson's inspiration for Rural Free Delivery dates back to 1869 when, as a boy clerk working in Norwood, Georgia, he witnessed the inauguration of

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

YOU HAVE to be a newspaper man and a printer to believe it. Even to one who has been in the business for twenty-one years, it's fantastic.

We visited the printing plant of the L. A. Lee Company in Dalton, Georgia, last weekend to inspect a new typesetting machine he is buying. Mr. Lee was born in Bulloch County in the Bay district. He moved to Dalton and went into the printing and newspaper business.

Now he prints two weekly newspapers, the Dalton News, and the Dalton Citizen. In addition to the commercial side he prints everything. But the biggest job he does is the printing of the directories, including the directory for Cincinnati, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, San Antonio, and others. In addition to these he prints several trade magazines, some in as many as four colors, and running up to nearly 200 pages each. Then there is the usual day-to-day commercial printing jobs. There are twenty-three typesetting machines, sixteen of which are operated automatically by tele-type.

There's no other operation like it in the State of Georgia, and we believe there's no other like it in the Southeast. We spent over two hours going through the plant and observed with amazement each of the many operations. Nearly 200 employees work there, and there are all local men and women. They seem to do their work with ease and contentment. Yet, to a casual observer there seems to be compounded confusion existing everywhere and you think it almost a miracle that out of it all comes those huge directories, printed, and bound ready for delivery by the thousands.

It was an experience we'll remember a long time.

IT ALMOST ruined our lunch. We were standing on the magazine of Davison's in Atlanta in the fancy food department. We were looking at a pile of fancy sardines displaying cans for sale at three for 99 cents. We overheard a lady back of us say, "I'll take three cans of barbecued sparrows and three cans of barbecued caterpillars." "The lady's crazy," we allowed to ourselves. Our curiosity prompted us to turn to the counter where the lady had given her order. Sure enough—there were stacks and stacks of cans of barbecued sparrows and barbecued caterpillars. But not for us!

OUR OFFICE is in a mess. We like it in the State of Georgia, and we believe there's no other like it in the Southeast. We spent over two hours going through the plant and observed with amazement each of the many operations. Nearly 200 employees work there, and there are all local men and women. They seem to do their work with ease and contentment. Yet, to a casual observer there seems to be compounded confusion existing everywhere and you think it almost a miracle that out of it all comes those huge directories, printed, and bound ready for delivery by the thousands.

SPEAKING TO Georgia principals in Athens, Georgia, Dr. John E. Dobbins of the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, New Jersey, had this to say about the educational program in Georgia:

"Georgia is making such progress in education that it keeps ahead of the nation. It is a fact that the state may lead the nation in education. It will be hard to find another state that does a better job of educating its young people."

The Georgia State in Education is a startling exception to the old stereotype of Southern backwardness. It is the story of a renaissance in education, a new kind of dedication to reality, a new willingness to study your strength and weaknesses.

THE GEORGIA State in Education today is indeed an exciting one. Today, nearly a million children are enrolled in our public schools. Some 682,000 are white children and 331,000 are Negro children. These children attend classes in 2,177 schools in 188 systems in our 159 counties. We have 575 four-year high schools with every child having the opportunity to receive 12 years of public education. Three hundred and sixty-two of these high schools are for white students and 212 are for Negro students.

When Marvin Griffin took office as governor he stated to the people, "Every child in Georgia, no matter who he is or where he lives, must have his chance to get the top quality education that will make him a happy, useful citizen."

THE RECORD of the Griffin Administration in the field of education is without equal in the history of our state. Listen to what these leaders in education have to say.

MRS. ZACK SMITH and Mrs. Sonny Bird had members of the Statesboro Rotary Club in stitches as they gave the Rotarians a "Lesson in Speech" at the Monday meeting of this week at Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen.

Using Dr. Bird and Daniel and Charlie Robbins, they demonstrated the proper method of breathing. Using J. Brantley Johnson they demonstrated the use of the diaphragm. Using the principle of "resonating," using Jim Park, Judge Leroy Cowart, G. C. Coleman and Bill Holloman, they demonstrated the principle of "articulation" and Horace Smith, Paul Carroll, Barney Avestant and we were the guinea pigs in the demonstration in pantomime.

A feature of their speech lesson was Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Bird's reading of an excerpt from "John Brown's Body." They concluded their lesson with a comedy sketch made famous by Sam and Dale, an old vaudeville team of forty years ago.

Rotarians conceded that it was one of the most delightful and profitable of the evening.

Zack Smith was in charge of the program and presented his wife and Mrs. Bird.

"Few men in public life have displayed the depth of understanding of all levels of education as has Governor Marvin Griffin. He has supported substantially both technical and scientific education. This action will be of increasing value to the state, the region and the nation, and these contributions will long be remembered by the citizens of Georgia."

—Edwin Harrison, president of Georgia Tech.

Governor Griffin's record in his executive support of the University System of Georgia is proof of his personal appreciation of the challenges confronting the college students seeking an education in our state-supported institutions. By devoting adequate funds to the task early in his administration great deficiencies in equipment, salary scales and facilities have been overcome. Governor Griffin has served to maintain an ever-growing acceleration of resources, intelligence, and vision to place Georgia foremost in educational ranks of the nation."

FIVE B. C. SENIORS AT G.T.C. COMPLETE GRADUATION REQUIREMENTS

Five Bulloch County seniors completed graduation requirements from Georgia Teachers College at the close of the fall quarter.

They are: Mrs. Daisy Gignilliat, Twin City; Shirley Ann Jenkins, Statesboro; Vondra Lanier, Twin City; Richard Mando, Statesboro; and Robert Donaldson, Statesboro.

These seniors, among thirty-one to complete degree requirements in December, will receive their degrees at the annual commencement exercises held in June.

In recent years more wives are working in the labor force. Miss Dailey reports. Since 1940 the percentage of employed wives (who are living with their husbands) has risen from 15 to 30 per cent and is expected to rise still more because of higher prices, higher pay, and increased education levels.

In 1958, the Extension specialist says, 365 working wives were living in small cities in Georgia were interviewed as to job-related expenses. Here are some of the findings of that survey:

1. Expenditures for paid help household work, care of children, and laundry amounted to as much as $403 and as little as $143. The difference in amount was directly related to the difference in ages of children. The higher figure was spent for help by wives with children under six.

2. Employed wives spent more, on the average, both for clothing and personal care than non-employed wives. The average for clothing was $197 for the employed and $113 for the non-employed. Employed wives reported expenditures averaging $54 for personal care, non-employed wives, $33.

3. Average income for the employed group was $2,200, of

Question of working wives to be studied in Georgia during 1959

How much does it mean to a family — financially speaking — for the wife to take a full-time job away from home. The question of whether a wife should take such employment is one that will be studied by hundreds of Georgia families in 1959, says Miss Hilda Dailey, home management specialist, Agricultural Extension Service, University of Georgia College of Agriculture.

Miss Dailey writes about what the working wife may expect to "take home" from her income in an Extension bulletin, "Georgia's Agricultural Outlook for 1959."

Miss Dailey points out that a family discussing the "to work" or "not-to-work" idea for a wife will do well to consider job-related expenses.

"There are other considerations, too," Miss Dailey explains. "For example, wives of all adult families spent less for hired help and more for clothing. Wives with children under six did well to 'clear' little more than half of their total earnings. Wives with no children under 17 or with children from 6 to 17 'cleared' a little more than three-fifths of their total earnings."

Miss Dailey adds that these questions concern only the economic side of the question and that each family should consider carefully the emotional welfare of the family before the wife and mother accepts outside employment.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Hilda Dailey, president. The devotional was given by Miss Susie Pearl Atkins.

Mrs. Henry Blitch gave a demonstration on correct informal table setting.

An interesting discussion on Child Development and Family Life was given by Mrs. Jones Allen.

Mrs. Ed Brannen was a guest.

Mrs. Gear and Mrs. Davis were attending meetings out of town.

During the social hour our hostesses served delicious refreshments.

At the Homemaking Center on February 10, there will be a work day for all who wish to do ceramics or other work.

Mrs. Gear gave an interesting talk on family life. Mrs. Davis gave a demonstration on table setting.

which 28 per cent ($614) went for expenses directly related to their job. Eight per cent was spent for hired help, and five per cent for clothing and personal care. The amount left was about three-fifths or $1,297 of the total income earned.

"These figures are averages, but they fail to show all the variations," Miss Dailey explains. "For example, wives of all adult families spent less for hired help and more for clothing. Wives with children under six did well to 'clear' little more than half of their total earnings. Wives with no children under 17 or with children from 6 to 17 'cleared' a little more than three-fifths of their total earnings."

The Statesboro Regional Library

One of the greatest advantages a community can have is a public library. Here, just for the reading, is a world of knowledge covering countless subjects. The Statesboro Regional Library is one of the finest for a city its size.

It is located in the heart of Statesboro on South Main Street in a modern library building. The library is open from 9 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and from 1:30 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. through Saturday.

More than 20,000 people visit the library each year and borrow across the desk more than 45,000 books. Over 35,000 volumes are available, approximately 100 magazines, 1,000 films, and recordings for children are available. During the past year an estimated 100 persons visited the library each day it was open and borrowed an average 18 books per hour.

port to you the highlights of the education story in Georgia during the past four years. It is a record of achievement of which we can all be proud.

If you are one of those who would like to judge the record of the Griffin administration by the failures of some of the little people found in every administration then you may not be interested in this report. If, on the other hand, you are interested in the educational program in Georgia, and are not too alarmed by the scandal-hunting being done by some of the newspapers, then you will have a feeling of great pride for our advancement in education in recent years.

The only incident in which the Atlanta papers have mentioned this fine report by the Griffin Administration to the people of Georgia has been in criticism of the cost of its publication. In view of the attitude of these papers these past few months this is understandable.

COFFEE, PUNCH, NUTS, POTATO CHIPS AND COOKIES were served. Mrs. H. P. Jones Sr., vice-president, presiding in the absence of Mrs. Floyd, the president, opened the meeting with the reading of the club collect.

Mrs. W. M. Newton introduced Sam E. Monck of Savannah, the civic commissioner of that city, who gave a very interesting talk on landscaping.

A short business session followed with reports from the various offices and committee chairmen.

Due to weather conditions, the Civic Garden Club voted to cancel the 1950 Camellia Show scheduled for February.

The closing comment: "Your wardrobe has style; how about your garden?"

There were 18 members present.

MRS. MARK TOOLE IS GUEST SPEAKER AT MAGNOLIA GARDEN CLUB

The Magnolia Garden Club met Thursday afternoon, January 8, at the home of Mrs. J. M. Cronkite on Savannah Road with Mrs. John Meyers, co-hostess.

As the members arrived they were served dainty assorted sandwiches and coffee. The decorative arrangements were the combined efforts of the hostesses.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Lamar Hutchins. Mrs. Bernon Gay read the club collect. The program chairman, Mrs. L. H. Young, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Mark Toole, who gave a very interesting talk on "Landscaping Designs to Fit the Home and Community."

Mrs. Toole presented Mrs. Toole's new dish from the club as a token of appreciation.

Mrs. Hutchins called for committee reports. A nominating committee, composed of Mrs. Bernon Gay, Mrs. Peter Tankersley and Mrs. Lawson Mitchell, was selected to present a slate of officers for the next club year.

DR. AND MRS. JACKSON HOSTS TO FORTNIGHTER CLUB

On Saturday evening Dr. and Mrs. John L. Jackson entertained the Fortnighter Club at their country place and pond. Weather conditions prevented the out-door supper as planned. The guests were served pepperoni, salads, cookies and coffee.

Members present were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Braswell, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Brannen Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Curtis Lane, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Jones Jr., Miss Maxam Foy and W. C. Hodges.

The refreshment table featured a centerpiece of pink camellias and pink lighted candles.

The guests were served homemade Japanese fruit cake, nuts, mints, and coffee.

Mrs. Percy Averitt, winning high in the club, received a lovely silver tea bell. For visitor's high, Mrs. Grady Bland was the proud winner of a Brew Master. Mrs. J. Frank Oliff received a paper weight for cup prize. A hand-painted wall plaque went to Mrs. Devane Watson for low.

Guests were invited for four tables.

HALF HIGH BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. Zack Smith was hostess to the Half High bridge club on Friday of last week at the Forest Heights Country Club.

Camellia arrangements decorated the refreshment tables where the guests were served a dessert course and coffee.

Guests were invited for seven tables.

Miss Maxam Foy won a wooden trivet for high score in the club. A similar prize went to Mrs. Albert Braswell for visitor's high. For half high, Mrs. Charlie Robbins Jr. received an azalea plant. Mrs. Lewis Hook, scoring low, received artificial grapes.

A tally with "Happy New Year" entitled Mrs. Joe Robert Tillman to the lucky prize, a camellia plant. For cut, Mrs. Jack Wynn was given an azalea. A guest at the party was Mrs. James Crows of Ocala, Fla., house guest of Mrs. Horace Smith.

Miss Newton is speaker at P.T.A. Council meeting

There were fifty people present at the Bulloch County Council of Parents and Teachers Associations which met at the Stilson Elementary School Saturday with a very interesting and informative program.

Nine out of the eleven local units in the Council were represented by members who participated and shared in the day's activities.

The meeting was called to order by the new president, Mrs. Cluise Smith. After the inspirational, by Mrs. W. A. Groover, greetings were brought to the group by the local unit president, Mrs. Joe Atkins, and Mrs. Archie Nesmith, principal of the Stilson Elementary School.

The county school superintendent, H. P. Womack, was present and brought the group up to date on "What's Happening in Education" and stated some of the ways in which parents and teachers may help.

The topics discussed were Federal Aid to Education, Public Schools, County Building Program, the three mill tax increase and the improved curriculum.

At this point in the program the first and second grade Rhythmic Band, with Jean Martin as director, rendered three beautiful numbers assisted by Miss Nina McElven and Mrs. Lorraine Belle Burgess was at the piano.

The main feature of the program for the day was the very interesting and informative talk on "Values of the Testing Program in Bulloch County," by Miss Leona Newton, instructional supervisor for Bulloch County schools.

Miss Newton told the group that "when a test is given it shows the weaknesses and strengths in the child's work, which gives a good starting point for helping the child. She said, that terms such as 'potential learning, capacity for learning, the ability to learn, mental age, etc., were much better, and more pleasing to the ear than I. Q. in discussing the child."

It was very evident that the parents present were much concerned, and pleased with the valuable information that Miss Newton gave them, which left them with the feeling that they were now able to give more help to their child and its teacher, by having more patience and understanding that a test is a tool to help the child in his work.

Sgt. Riley Lord is tankman on Korea Duty

Sergeant Riley E. Lord, son of Mrs. Sarah Lord of Statesboro, allows as how it's pretty monotonous at times.

He was talking about duty with the "stake-out-platoon" in Korea. He explained that men in the "stake-out-platoon" are staked out at strategic points along the now-silent front of the Korean, poised for the slightest rustling which must mean a communist soldier.

Sergeant Lord is a tankman and platoon sergeant and a veteran of eleven months of Korea duty this tour and of a hitch with the Third U. S. Infantry Division in Korea from December, 1951, to May 1952. He is 31 years of age.

In talking about his "stake-out-duty" he added, "You hear a lot of sounds. You can tell if they are animals or what. It kinda keeps you worried. You can't pinpoint the noise. It's hard to tell what the movement is." He described the stake-out as similar to being on an outpost in wartime. "There is no shooting at you," he said, "but there is the same tension."

He has been in the service for eight years. His mother hopes he will be home soon.

DEDICATED TO THE PROGRESS OF STATESBORO AND BULLOCH COUNTY

VOLUME XVIII — ESTABLISHED MARCH 26, 1937 — P. O. BOX 329

STATESBORO, GEORGIA, THURSDAY, JANUARY 22, 1959

NUMBER 10

HERE IS THE ARCHITECT'S DRAWING of how the H. Minkovitz & Sons' new building will look when the present remodeling and renovation program, begun last week, is completed. The building is located at the traffic light where North and South Main Streets intersect at East and West Main Streets. The building was originally constructed by the late R. Simmons.

Modernization program underway at H. Minkovitz & Sons' Statesboro store

The first phase of the remodeling plans on the H. Minkovitz & Sons' building at the center of Statesboro is now well advanced.

Work began last week on an extensive renovating program on the store building with provisions having been made so that shoppers might continue to have easy access to the several departments.

Mr. Ike Minkovitz, chairman of the board of directors of the organization, announced that Jerome Construction Company of Savannah was the successful bidder for the work. Levy and Kiley of Savannah are the architects. Stearns and Brown of Savannah are the engineers. Minkovitz, in making a statement regarding the renovation program said, "We have confidence in the future of Statesboro and Bulloch County. We believe firmly that the public will continue to prefer to do their shopping for men's, ladies, and children's ready-to-wear and home furnishings in the main business section of a city the size of Statesboro, and we believe that the people in this trade area like Minkovitz merchandise and values, plus our store's engineering and design style and style-rich merchandise at the most competitive prices. We further believe that the city and county governments will cooperate with the merchants in providing adequate parking facilities for the main business section in order to attract a larger volume of trade."

Mr. Minkovitz said that plans call for an extensive re-arrangement of the departments on all four floors of the store in order to provide larger selections in many items and to make shopping easier in wider aisles with many self-selection type fixtures, in a comfortable, leisurely atmosphere.

The grand jurors drawn to serve are: Clarence J. Wynn, O. C. Banks, Joe Ingram, Tyrell Minick, C. C. Meeks, Jims T. Jones, Chas. C. Lewis, Cate Mikell, Marcus B. Burke, Hoke S. Brannen, C. W. Zetterower, W. Prather Deal, J. L. Dekle, J. Walter Holland, A. L. Lanier, W. W. Mann, Sam Neville, G. B. Bowen, William A. Hodges Jr., W. K. Clifton.

The January term of the Bulloch Superior Court will convene on Monday, January 26, at 10 o'clock with Judge J. L. Renfro on the bench.

The grand jurors drawn to serve are: Clarence J. Wynn, O. C. Banks, Joe Ingram, Tyrell Minick, C. C. Meeks, Jims T. Jones, Chas. C. Lewis, Cate Mikell, Marcus B. Burke, Hoke S. Brannen, C. W. Zetterower, W. Prather Deal, J. L. Dekle, J. Walter Holland, A. L. Lanier, W. W. Mann, Sam Neville, G. B. Bowen, William A. Hodges Jr., W. K. Clifton.

Brownie Troop No. 3 visits Bulloch Herald

An Editorial

The report of the Senate Committee on Government Operations is in, signed, sealed and delivered by its members. Senator William P. Trotter, chairman; Senator Carl E. Sanders, vice chairman; Senator Bobby Lee Cook, secretary; and Senators Glenn W. Ellard, Hugh L. Gillis, George L. Jackson and Dixon Oxford, members.

Governor Ernest Vandiver in a statement released on January 8, wrote of the report.

"I ask the people of Georgia to study these proposals carefully and talk with members of the Legislature about them. I ask the help and cooperation of all citizens in getting the job done. Particularly, I request the help of the newspapers of the state and other information media in disseminating the contents of this report and in offering helpful comments on its implementation."

We thank Governor Vandiver for inviting our comments.

"Governor, we wish you would not abolish the recently created Georgia Recreation Commission as recommended in the report."

"We are a part of the Recreation Board here in Statesboro and we are familiar with the crying need of help for small communities which wish to set up recreation programs for the youth of their towns and not knowing how to go about it. They came to Statesboro seeking help, advice and inspiration from the program we have here. We help all we can, but more and more communities are wanting to make sound investments in the future through their youth."

"It is for these people and their communities for whom the Georgia Recreation Commission was set up. To help them organize and set up sound programs to provide supervised recreation for the young people."

To us that is a worthy objective for any agency and of those who guide our future. To us, there is no question of economy involved in the abolishment of the Georgia Recreation Commission.

"To us, here is a service for which there is an established and great need about to be caught up in a whirlwind and abandoned in the name of economy."

"Don't let this happen."

"The Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers, the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, the Georgia Municipal Association support the Commission in the work it has set out to do. The people in these groups are close to the youth in their communities and they want to see proper recreation programs put into operation."

In the three months the Commission has been active forty-five counties and many communities in Georgia have sought help, guidance and direction in laying the foundation for setting up strong and effective recreation programs.

It is for these and others like them, for whom the Georgia Recreation Commission was conceived and created.

"Let's not let them lose it."

Broucek - Hooley piano concert is Monday night

The sixth annual Jack Broucek-Dan Hooley duo-piano concert will be played at McCrean Auditorium on the campus of Georgia Teachers College on Monday evening, January 26, at 8:15 o'clock.

The program is offered free of charge and is open to the general public. This is the sixth time in seven years that the popular GTC music faculty members have combined their talents for an evening of piano music.

Their program will include: Infante "Sentimento"; J. S. Bach "Blithe Bells"; York Bowen "Arabesque"; Milhaud "Valse"; Rachmaninoff "Tarentella"; Schubert "Fantasia in F Minor." Following the intermission they will perform: Arensky's "Two Piano"; including "Romance," Waltz, and "Polonaise." Concluding the concert will be Gershwin's Fantasia on "Porgy and Bess."

Mr. and Mrs. Troy L. Stanfield Sr. of Savannah, announced this week that they have purchased the NuGrape Bottling Company from Mr. J. Allen Vickery who had operated the plant here for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanfield have been in the NuGrape bottling business for twenty-eight years in Savannah. They state that there will be no change in the personnel of the plant here.

Ten churches take part in church census

The Christian Church and the Statesboro Lutheran Mission have joined with the First Baptist Church, the First Methodist Church, the First Presbyterian Church, the Trinity Episcopal Church, the Church of God, in the religious census to be taken in the city of Statesboro Sunday afternoon, February 1.

The census is a joint undertaking of these ten churches and will be taken by more than 250 volunteers from the memberships of the churches.

Jimmy Gunter, S. M. Wall and Bunny Cone met on Monday evening of this week and worked out territory assignments for the ten "captains," one from each church. They will meet tonight at the First Baptist Church to complete the assignments to the captains. These will have until Monday, January 26, to work out the assignments for their workers.

On Thursday, January 29, there will be a final briefing at which all the volunteer captains will be present.

"The purpose of this census," said the Rev. J. Robert Smith, pastor of the First Baptist Church, speaking for all ministers taking part in the project, "is to provide our churches with a blue print of our responsibility in this community."

Serving with Rev. Smith are the Rev. Lawrence Houston and the Rev. J. R. Wooley.

Collins Frozen Foods, Inc. is spotlighted here

There was excitement in the voice of Mr. Jack H. Garrett of Sandersville when Mr. David Dulany, national advertising director and grandson of the John H. Dulany, founder of the Dulany Company packages of frozen vegetables, juices and seafoods, told her over long distance telephone from Atlanta that she had just won a year's supply of Dulany's frozen foods. The drawing was made a part of a radio broadcast on January 14.

Mr. Dulany's phone call to Mrs. Garrett was prompted by the company and by Collins Frozen Foods Inc. of Statesboro, distributor for Dulany products. Mrs. Garrett's
